

Burwell Group

Burwell Group is a provider to non-profit, government, and private enterprise founded by retired Army Colonel Rudy Burwell with a focus on technology, communications, and emergency management.

» website

Boutique excellence. A smaller, but growing and influential product and service provider to the federal government, Burwell Group came to us as a startup. They needed a new website to help promote their business, secure new clients, and differentiate them from their competitors in the crowded government contracting space. Using Burwell Group's existing logo identity, we designed and developed a new mobile responsive website and brand identity, and incorporated compelling message and content.