Uncommon company. When nexVortex first approached us, they had an existing logo and brand identity. However, the brand identity had become stale and company executives wanted a fresh and bold new look to help take the company to the next level. We developed branding that leveraged the existing, well-established logo identity's graphical elements, fonts, and colors. And, we incorporated the company's three tenets: Uncommon Service, Uncommon Know-How, and Uncommon Commitment, into a variety of marketing pieces, including brochures, advertising, invitations, sales sheets, and event signage.
